

ATTORNEY GENERAL GREGORY RESIGNS, EFFECTIVE NEXT MARCH

Another Member of President Wilson's Official Family Leaves Because of "Pecuniary Responsibilities"; Polk and Senator Lewis Mentioned For Place Gregory Will Vacate; Wilson Praises Retiring Official.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12.—

Attorney general Gregory will resign from the cabinet March 4 to return to the practice of law. His resignation was announced last night at the White House when he was called to President Wilson at Paris Thursday and accepted.

Mr. Gregory had long considered returning to private life because of pecuniary responsibilities. At the request of the president, however, he decided to remain in office until March. The attorney general has not decided where he will take up law practice. His home is in Texas.

Possible Successor. In speculation, the names of Frank L. Polk, counselor of the state department and acting secretary of war, Mr. Lansing in Europe, and senator James Hamilton Lewis, of Illinois, were mentioned as Mr. Gregory's possible successor.

Mr. Gregory, in his letter of resignation, says: "In accordance with the purpose expressed in our conversation just before you went abroad, I tender my resignation as attorney general."

"No man ever served a leader who was more uniformly considerate, more highly respected and more generously appreciative; no subordinate was ever more deeply grateful for the numberless friendly words and acts of his superior."

Closing War Activities. "Pecuniary responsibilities of a substantial nature rest upon me and my private affairs long have demanded attention. During the continuance of actual warfare, it was necessary to defer to weigh these personal considerations in the balance against the public duties."

By March 4 of the present year, the department of justice will have substantially brought its war activities to a close and be working under normal conditions. I therefore, ask that this resignation take effect on that date.

President's reply said: "It is with profound reluctance and regret that I accept your resignation. I do so only because you have convinced me that it is for you to retire. There has been no one with whom I have been associated in Washington who has learned more to trust in the wise counsel I have attached more value and importance. Your resignation is accepted."

Indians Dying Fast Of "Flu" Up In Canada. Dr. O. D. Weeks, former El Pasoan, volunteers to help save them.

Pathetic stories of the plight of the half breeds and Indians in north Alberta who are being wiped out by the influenza epidemic, are told by Dr. O. D. Weeks, who has been in charge of the fight there against the disease, according to the Calgary Herald, of Calgary, Alberta, Can. Dr. Weeks, who was in charge of the Col. Walker emergency hospital in Calgary, just prior to the closing of that hospital, volunteered to go north to take charge of the situation, but says he had no idea until he arrived just how bad it was.

Dr. Weeks is a former El Pasoan. He conducted Hotel El Estador, a mansion on the corner of Broadway and Missouri and Oregon streets, when located here. He is a brother of Dr. W. R. Weeks, of El Paso.

According to Dr. Weeks, fully one-half of the Great Indian population in the north has died or is dying of the disease, and unless more numbers help is given the ravages will be even greater. At present, Dr. Weeks is the only physician in the entire district along the Great Waterways railway, there being no regular physicians, even at Fort McMurray, and none at Lac La Poudre.

The population in the north is composed largely of half-breeds and Indians. In the house of the chief, Dr. Weeks found seven dying on the floor, all dark-skinned people, the Indians can stand disease of the winter, and they are dying rapidly.

EXPORT CONSERVATION LIST AGAIN REVISED. Announcement is made by the war trade board of further removals from the export conservation list as follows: Jute bagging, coars, bags and twines, all sizes and foreign and domestic fiber. The addition of jute and mullins has been made to the conservation list.

The removal of Segundo, Alonzo & Co., of Mexico City, from the enemy trading list is also announced by the war trade board.

WILL HOLD POLL TAX RALLY. Negro women of El Paso will hold a poll tax rally in the El Paso Baptist church, 2111 Main street, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Several speakers will address the meeting.

Plenty Of Rich Stuff In New Redmond Show

Conversation Is the Sort to Make You Sit Straight and Keep Listening.

"What would you do for $10?" "I'd do anything but commit murder."

"Do you care to earn an honest dollar?" "I care to earn any kind of a dollar."

If you heard this at the Texas Grand and had paid $3 for a seat and you heard a lot of other stuff as good, you'd say it was "some show."

This is a sample of some of the conversational stuff in "Where Were You Last Night?" the new Redmond show at the Crawford this week. The show comes from the conversation between the bachelor girl (Miss Bobbie Dean) and the chauffeur (Ed. Mitchell). There are other things just as good.

"I've got a thing," says the young girl. "And just when good lies are getting so scarce, too," exclaims the flirtatious wife.

"Oh, she'll have an excuse when she gets here—women always do."

And here are some more: "I sometimes wish you were married to a butcher and had 12 children." (This from a society wife).

"All right, butcher," asks her man friend. "Oh, I wouldn't care whose they were so long as they were mine."

This from a young girl: "Oh, I don't want to be stupidly respectable; I'll save that for old age."

Here's another: "Don't you want to kiss me?" "No, but I want you to want to."

Here's another: "You taught me to kiss. I used to let the boys kiss me; now I kiss back."

This from the housewife: "You certainly have regal morals."

The answer from the chauffeur: "I don't know, I ain't no gentleman."

The play is full of such smart chatter and the participants wear some swell clothes to correspond to the conversation and attract the eye.

It is a lovely party, with Peggy Betts all dressed up looking her best, and Bobbie Dean wearing two kinds of bathing suits and the bathing girls changing their costumes in transparent, see-through, and see-through.

From the opening musical number with its elaborate setting of flowing fountains, sea-side landscape, and parrots and comfortable lounge furniture, down to Bobbie Dean's joke about the centimetre and the foot in the grave still having a long time to live, the new Redmond show is even more than the old one.

PROBE REELED BY 21 SLEEPING PASSENGERS KILLED OR BADLY HURT IN N. Y. CENTRAL COLLISION

BATAVIA, N. Y., Jan. 12.—Officials of the New York Central today were continuing their investigation of the wreck at South Byron yesterday, in which 21 persons were killed, and attempts were renewed to identify the bodies still in Batavia undertaking establishments.

Railroad officers who had spent Sunday in investigating conflicting statements regarding the collision of the Southwestern Limited with the sleeper up the Wolverine Limited, this morning declared that they could see no explanation of the cause of the wreck.

Both trains westbound, known as the Southwestern Limited, ran into the rear of train No. 17, the Wolverine, which was at a standstill preparatory to starting a second engine for the run up the steep grade between South Byron and Batavia.

The rear Pullman, a steel car, was completely wrecked. When the engine came to a stop, the second coach from the end was torn from its trucks and, lifting slightly, smashed through the center of the sleeper, sweeping the berths and seats into a compact pile of wreckage.

Into this debris the passengers were righted, and the condition of the bodies was such that the identification of most of them must have been almost instantaneous.

Not a sleeping passenger in the car escaped serious injury. When the two cars became locked in their tangle of broken timbers and iron, the bodies of the passengers were crushed, and their bodies were left intact.

The car ahead, a mass of steel and iron, was crushed, and the bodies of the passengers were crushed, and their bodies were left intact.

distinctive and unusual, and both the direction and photograph demand the highest praise. The picture was taken from the famous novel of the same name, written by the noted author, Edith Wharton, and was adapted for the screen by June Mathis and Albert Capellani.

TWO DROWN WHEN LIFEBOAT FROM DISTRESSED SHIP IS OVERTURNED

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 12.—Wireless dispatches from vessels standing by the United States shipping board steamship Castilla, which was in distress off the coast of Nova Scotia since early Saturday morning, brought news that the rescue of 44 of the crew had been made shortly after 9 a. m. today and that one of her lifeboats, containing 17 men, had capsized and that two were drowned.

The rescuing ships are the Bercegar and the War Filice. An exchange of messages between the two vessels was caught by the wireless station ashore, and one from the War Filice read:

"We have now picked up most of the crew. Two drowned."

Off on Water Interference. Evils of the water were still floating in the water, the War Filice, in an endeavor to calm the sea, made the work of rescue easier, emptied a part of her cargo of oil overboard. At 10:11 a. m. this wireless from the War Filice was received:

"After the oil had been spilled, it was impossible to hold on to the men who were clinging to the sides. Nose and mouth choked."

South American Disorders Felt By U. S. Firms

Troops Thrown Around District In Which Americans Do Business.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Jan. 12.—At 4 o'clock this morning, it was stated at police headquarters that no serious losses had been reported anywhere since 10 o'clock last night. At that hour, it was believed the government had the situation in hand.

Reports from Montevideo say that the authorities there are strengthening their forces against the Bolshevik movement. Troops have been thrown around Villa de Cerro, localizing strike disorders to that district, where are American packing houses.

Damage at Sugar Refinery. Severe fighting occurred at a sugar refinery in Rosario yesterday, following the declaration of a general strike. The number of casualties had not been reported.

Civilian guards, with rifles and drawn revolvers, patrol the streets of Buenos Aires, breaking up crowds and arresting suspicious characters. It is estimated that 150 persons, suspected of being implicated in a Bolshevik movement aimed at the overthrow of the government, had been arrested.

House has been sought by the
